

Many Systemwide IT Infrastructure Projects Are Interrelated

New equipment can be located in shared regional data centers to relieve campus data center space constraints and achieve efficiencies.

Once shared space becomes available in regional data centers, implementation of other initiatives that call for sharing infrastructure or services is greatly facilitated.